Green Spaces, Parks, and Play Areas

Most open spaces in town belong to the Town Council. They can be used for organised sport or leisure activities by agreement and for individual activities. They include:

Bury Field Common

Bury Field Common comprises mostly permanent wetland pasture, a woodland plantation, and some wet/dry balancing ponds. Common land is land owned by one or more persons, or organizations, where other people, known as 'Commoners' are entitled to use the land or take resources from it. Bury Field Common is owned by Newport Pagnell Town Council. There are 120 Commoners whose rights are based upon the ownership of certain properties in Newport Pagnell. The Commoners' rights include being able to graze cattle (usually one) and to take hay. In addition, several properties along Lakes Lane have the right to direct access through gates on to the Common. There are no cattle on the common at this time.

Bury Field Common comprises two fields – Bury Field itself and Bury Meadow, which is separated from the larger Bury Field by a hedge. The car park off Queens Avenue is also part of the Common.

The farmed character of the Common is low intensity with limited hay cropping. Skylarks nest during the spring into early summer, so the Common is only cut in July after the nesting season. Reed Buntings can also be found on site. There are also some very rare plants. The land has an open feel that encourages people to roam at will. No vehicles are allowed on the Common. Access is by means of kissing gates, or pedestrian gates.

Please note that if you are disabled, you will need a robust outdoor vehicle, as the Town Council is limited by the Rural Payments Agency Stewardship agreement and cannot put in hardcore paths on the common. Access for such vehicles can be gained by phoning the Town Council offices. Although being very close to the Town Centre, the Common is open countryside, not a Town Park.

Bury Common is recommended for walks, particularly to explore the wildlife and ecology of the site, or you can join the weekly Saturday morning Park Run at the Queen's Avenue Car Park.

Riverside Meadow

Riverside Meadow is the largest of the parks in Newport Pagnell. Comprising 82,000 sq. meters it has a meandering footpath all along the length of it, next to the river Ouzel (Lovat.). The park itself has nearly 200 trees, and is bordered by the Lovat River that runs through Newport Pagnell. Access is across a bridge from Willen Road, or through the Tickford Estate.

The play area has recently been refurbished to include a Zipwire and Buckaneer Netscape to challenge the older child or teenager. It also caters for younger children.

It's an ideal place to have a picnic, play some informal football, or indulge in birdwatching and nature activities.

Castle Meadow

Castle Meadow is an extensive park that floods every winter, acting as a natural flood plain for the area. It includes a section of meadow grass, that allows wildflowers to grow, which is only cut 4 times annually. There are numerous country paths throughout the site and wonderful views of the Newport Pagnell Parish Church.

It is bordered by the Ouzel or Lovat River. There is a small play area on site, and some benches to sit and admire the view or to take a picnic overlooking the river. Access is by foot from Tickford Street near the bowling club.

The Dove Park

The Dove, near Portfields School, and behind the Portfields Community Centre is the largest play area in Newport Pagnell catering for a full range of ages. There is a full scale MUGA on site and even a few pieces of adult exercise equipment.

Hornbeam Park

The Hornbeam Park is a cycling facility, with a learn to ride track and a pump track for the more advanced rider.

Bury Field Common

Castle Meadow

Ousebank Gardens

Riverside Meadow

Chicheley Street Park

Ousebank Gardens

Ousebank Gardens is a beautiful, hidden park, bordered by the Great Ouse River. It has an abundance of trees, many of which are specimen trees of great age and quality that can be seen if you wander through the park into the cemetery. Many prominent residents of Newport Pagnell are buried there.

The Partnership Gardening Group, aided by our contractor idVerde, maintain the wonderful flower beds.

There are tables and chairs on site and a small, fenced play area suitable for younger children. A great place to take children to indulge in some nature related activities such as pond dipping.

Whitethorns Park

Whitethorns is a local park near Ousedale School, Green Park School and on the walking route from the Portfields Estate to Ousedale School. It has half a MUGA and some play equipment for lower ages.

Kingfisher Park

Kingfisher Park caters for several age groups, from toddler to teenager and has a large range of play equipment. This is the one park where there is more than one piece of accessible play equipment for disabled children, and it features a wheelchair swing. It is situated right next to a pub, which makes it easy for those visiting the pub to watch their children at play. It's a large open space, with plenty of room for children to run around.

Please remember if you visit the pub, not to carry glass items over to the play area, as we have found glass in the sandpit on occasion.

Burgess Gardens

Burgess Gardens is one of the town's hidden gems. It is a huge area, of some 43,000 square metres. There is a football goal at the Dulwich Close end of the park, and a play area near the Burgess Gardens side of the park. An allotment site is at this park. There are several particularly beautiful trees on the site, including some lovely rowans.

Lakes Lane and Westbury Lane Park

The combined Lakes Lane and Westbury Parks offer 34,000 sq. meters for recreation. There is a play area at one end including a fenced area for small children, and a football goal at the other. The parks border the Lakes Lane Allotment site, and you can also take a wander through the Community Orchard and pick the odd apple in season. There are some magnificent oak trees on site.

Chicheley Street Park

Chicheley Street Park is an open space with a recently refurbished play park for children of all ages. There is a large enclosed Multi-Use Games Area (MUGA) with basketball rings, so it is suitable for football, netball, and basketball. The park has some beautiful trees and includes two picnic benches. This is the go-to park if you like slides as there are three on site for different age groups.

Exploring the History of Newport Pagnell

Newport Pagnell can be found in the Domesday Book, and so is one of the oldest known settlements in this area. In 1066 the town was known just as Newport (meaning 'New town' or 'New Market'), and it was only in the 11th century that the Lord of the manor, Faulk Paganel added his name to the town.

Download the Trail Tale App for free onto your phone, or follow the shorter walks on Newport Pagnell Town Council website newport-pagnell.org.uk

Its history is abundant, and includes a Scheduled 1 Listed building, the St Peter, and St Paul's Parish Church, a listed Bridge (the Tickford Bridge) and a Scheduled Monument (fortifications on Bury Common).

St Peter and St Paul's Parish Church

Iconic places to Visit

St Peter and St Paul's Parish Church

Just off the north end of the High Street, you can visit St Peter and St Paul's Church, which is open Monday to Friday 9.30am to 4.00pm, Saturday 9.30am to 4.00pm and Sunday - from after the service until 4.00pm. The church of St Peter & St Paul stands on a hill overlooking the valleys of two rivers, the Great Ouse, and the Lovat (also known as the Ousel). This hill has been the site of a church, and for a long time a castle too, since at least the time of the Normans.

Like most churches, Newport's church has been rebuilt and added to over the centuries. That unknown early church was replaced with what was believed to be a cross-shaped church, with the tower at the centre of the cross, but in the 14th century the tower was destroyed, the nave was rebuilt, transepts removed, and the aisles were rebuilt or added. Local records show that a new tower was built onto the west end of the nave about 1540.

Tickford Bridge

Built in 1810 Tickford Bridge in St John St, Newport Pagnell over the River Ouzel (or Lovat) is one of the last iron bridges in Britain that still carries main road traffic. It is believed to be the oldest iron bridge in the world that is still in constant use.

According to "British Listed Buildings": "Tickford Bridge is a foremost work of early cast iron engineering still surviving in near its original condition and taking modern traffic. It is a monument of national importance in the history of civil engineering and the use of cast iron." The bridge became a Grade I-listed building on 15-Jun-1971. Found in Tickford Street near the Library.

Bury Field Scheduled Monument

The common land is mentioned as early as 1276 as common pasture. It could have been a remnant of the Common Fields from the Saxon period.

At the Queens Avenue entrance to the Field across from Mill House are the remains of a Civil War defensive boundary and over by the top meadow is an ancient burial mound. When Cromwellian troops were present in the town, which was at that time very compact and enclosed by the two rivers, an attempt was made to completely enclose it by connecting the two rivers with a dyke from the rear of the North Mill across Bury Field to a point on the River Lovat/Ouzel near where the Parchment works is situated.

There is no evidence that this ever came to pass, but local historian Newman Cole alluded to the fact that remains of workings were apparent. The Royalist troops of Charles I took over the town in 1643. Responding to this move the Roundhead troops of Major General Skippon came to the town to occupy it and force the Royalists out. They continued to fortify the town and used it to mount raids to places in the locality like Stony Stratford.
